

OUR BUSINESS MEN.

A glimpse at the men who do the business of a town or city, always has its interest. Cerrillos business men as a rule, are liberal and enterprising, and the following mention is merited:

THE CERRILLOS SUPPLY CO.
No business institution of Cerrillos has made a better record in all ways than the above company. Its stock is hardware, furniture, miners' supplies, wagons, buggies, crockery and undertaking goods. The firm comprises W. H. Kennedy, of Cerrillos, and Lewis H. Frear of Ithaca, New York. The business management in the hands of Mr. Kennedy has proven what can be accomplished in the west, in the way of building up business where energy, careful attention and fair dealing are combined in the effort.

AMES & GOULD
carry a complete stock of hay, grain and lumber, and building material generally. They are business men of well known integrity, full of enterprise, and deserve all the favors the public can give them in the way of business patronage.

J. H. GERDES & CO.
carry an excellent stock of clothing and gents' furnishing goods, hats and shoes, to which dry goods have recently been added. Charley Way, always accommodating, manages the Cerrillos store and invites you to call.

MILLER & LEGACY
are centrally located with their big stock of drugs and medicines, wall paper, window glass, paints, oils and toilet goods. They have a good trade and merit it.

L. D. SUGAR,
in the Jones block, carries a big, fresh stock of groceries, dry goods, boots and shoes, millinery and notions. He has just returned from the east, where new stock was purchased for both the Cerrillos and San Pedro stores.

A. E. LAUDENSLAGER.
Though in business in Cerrillos but little more than a year, few could show a larger trade even in much larger towns. A widespread invitation for custom by a liberal use of printers' ink, and hard rustling, did it. He is always ready to sell you groceries and provisions cheap.

MRS. C. DOYLE
enjoys an enviable trade in groceries, dry goods, clothing and notions, always carrying a complete and well-selected stock.

M. TANNENBAUM
has also established a good business in Cerrillos and won a name for square dealing of which any man might well feel proud. His lines are groceries and general merchandise.

C. W. UPTGROVE
carries a nice stock of groceries, fruits and notions, and is proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel, one of the commodious and well run hotels of the place.

D. D. HARKNESS,
the pioneer hotel man of this section, is still the popular and favored landlord of the Cerrillos House. His generosity and plain honesty are as characteristic as his democracy.

DR. JOSEPH RICHARDS is the pioneer druggist of Cerrillos, and in the next corner business building erected on the site of the one destroyed by the fire, he has a handsome stock of drugs and medicines and all goods belonging to their lines.

KEILEY & MILLER
deal in choice beverages for the thirsty and keep pure Havana cigars on tap for those who enjoy a good smoke. They are genial, enterprising gentlemen.

DICK MATTHEWS
always has on hand the best brands of liquors and cigars, and fresh St. Louis beer—also a large stock of good humor, as all his friends know.

CHARLES SYLVESTER
does all classes of blacksmithing and blacksmith repair work, at his shop on south bridge street.

A. YOUNG, carpenter and builder, will always be ready to do your contract work in the most satisfactory manner.

P. F. HOGAN
carries best brands of liquors and cigars. House always open to the public.

W. H. COLEMAN,
blacksmith and wagonmaker, is always ready to turn out good work on short notice. Shop, west end of Front street.

GREHAM & PETERSON run the old established chop house, also carry liquors and cigars.

MISCELLANEOUS.
A Ready does first-class barbering back of Kelley & Miller's.

The principal coal shippers of Cerrillos are: John Elder, Richard Green, James Lucas, W. P. Cunningham, W. C. Rogers, C. A. Waid, David Miller, White & Cook.

Cerrillos has two weekly newspapers, the RUSTLER and Beacon, each published at the subscription price of $3 per year.

SAN PEDRO.

San Pedro, the Copper and Carbonate camp of south Santa Fe county, probably never had so flattering a prospect before it as at present. The concentrating machinery of the copper company is running steadily and the smelter stacks will start again as soon as coke can be supplied from Cerrillos, which will be in a few days. Under the management of superintendent T. J. McLaughlin, the property is paying better than ever before. Other mines of the camp promise well for the immediate future. The Lincoln-Lucky's new shaft will be through to ore in a few weeks at most and the mine will be shipping. The San Lazarus never looked better, the Sandias threaten a boom, and the Tuerto section fairly bristles with budding enterprises. Evidently an era of prosperity is dawning.

SAN PEDRO BUSINESS MEN.

San Pedro possesses a live lot of business men who carry good stocks of goods and are always enterprising in trade. Mr. N. J. Strumquist conducts the Copper Company store for Col. W. H. Weed, carrying an extensive stock of general merchandise and miners' supplies. Goodman, Ziegler & Co., have a splendid stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Millinery, etc., and do an excellent business. L. D. Sugar's store managed by Mr. Golden, handles groceries and provisions in large quantities. J. Jaycope has a good stock of groceries, cigars and tobaccos, in which he enjoys a good trade. He is also the jeweler and watchmaker of the town, in which trade he is an experienced and practical workman. Dr. Lane is proprietor of the San Pedro Drug Store and also practicing physician of the camp. He carries at his store a nice stock of pure drugs, druggist's sundries, medicines, toilet goods and cigars. James Carruthers owns the city meat market and supplies tenderloin steaks to the masses, doing a thriving business. Spencer and Swan and Peter Strumquist, mix and dispense pleasant beverages for the thirsty and are all "hale fellows well met."

The San Pedro Hotel, now under the management of Peter Powers, is fully "in the swim," and is rapidly becoming a most popular house.

The indications are splendid for another year. Increased development, big crops over the states at high prices, will put plenty money in the country.

It costs something in this country to print a progressive newspaper. The RUSTLER this week is enlarged and will continue its present size. A large number of extra copies of this week's edition are printed, and all are requested to buy a few of them and send out, for by so doing they not only help the paper bear this extra expense but may do the country and themselves good. A live local paper always circulates a great many extra copies at its own expense, and nearly always gets them where they will do good. Put your shoulders to the wheel and help.

G. A. R. Acton.
In the matter of the assassination of D. P. Wooten at San Lorenzo springs, the G. A. R. Warren post G. A. R., of Albuquerque, passed resolutions calling on the governor to offer a reward for the apprehension, capture and conviction of the murderer. There was also a resolution passed instructing the post adjutant to request the co-operation of all G. A. R. posts in the department of New Mexico in the matter of capturing the assassin.—New Mexican.

NEW MINING ENTERPRISE.

The Property and Plans of Tuerto Mountain Copper and Gold Company.

The mines of the Tuerto Mountain Copper & Gold company are situated on the north side of the Tuerto mountains, 1 1/2 miles from the town of Golden, in south Santa Fe county, New Mexico; from six to eight miles from the famous Cerrillos coal banks and fifteen miles from the railroad station. The occurrences of the ore are the same as they are in the south side of the Tuerto mountains in the Santa Fe Copper company's mines. The ores show partly a honey-combed quartz rock, containing some iron oxide besides free gold (about $6 to $10 per ton) and partly oxidized copper ore, changing as depth is gained into copper pyrites and lime—alumina garnet. The course of the veins of the mines owned by the company is from west of north to east of south, and the dip of these veins is toward the east about eight degrees from the horizontal. A shaft will be sunk to strike the different veins, and all the mines of the company worked from one central point. The mines are all situated on government land, joining the south side of the Ortiz grant on the north, and the north side of the disputed Canon del Agua grant to the south. A smelter site has been selected and located. It will take about six months to open up the mines sufficiently and get a good supply of ore in reserve before works are erected. Reverberatory furnaces will be used to turn the ore into matte. The best cooking coal, manufactured near Cerrillos, will cost $4 per ton delivered at the proposed plant, hence the smelting costs will be remarkably low. The mines show ore from the surface and can practically be worked from the grass roots, thus mining costs will be very low during the first five years. It is estimated by good authority that the copper in the matte delivered at New York, will not cost more than six cents per pound.

The capital stock of the company has been fixed at $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares, of which 40,000 remain in the treasury at the disposal of the stockholders should they think it advisable in future to extend the proposed plant's capacity and to direct refining works by the electrolytic process, and to connect with the adjacent coal banks by rail.

The New Mexico directors of this company are: Governor Prince, L. Spiegelberg, president of the Second National bank; R. W. Webb and S. E. Raunheim, all whom are experienced men who believe in the absolute success of this new enterprise. The headquarters of the company are at Santa Fe, and a branch office is in New York, at 261 Broadway, headed by the secretary, Gustavus S. Drachman, attorney at law.
